Living is Easy With eyes closed Misunderstanding all you see to look at a thing is quite different from seeing a thing one does not see anything until one sees its beauty open my eyes that I may see glimpses of truth thou hast for me from near to far from here to there funny things are everywhere it takes great courage to see the world in all its tainted glory and still to love it/God Bless us, Everyone.

As we all prepare to face the world we can think back to the good times, friends, and memorys. We have to hold the memorys in our hearts and keep them forever. I had a great time at north and it is because of Great friends and My girlfriend Katy, who "I love more than anything, than anything I do" I hope to see everyone sometime after school and to the class of 2001 good luck and never forget the memorys!

This one is for all my friends: BYE, BYE, BYE !! To all the people that I met, it's been fun knowing you and I hope to see you guys around. Now to all my Chinese class buddies, it's been a bumpy ride, but look at us now, we know how to say chicken and dog! To my closest pals, you know who you are, we have to keep in touch because I love you guys, I thank God everyday for having all of you as my friends.

Hi my name is Dennis and I'm a senior this year in North Quincy. I'm very happy that this school has given me all the academics that I need. I would like the yearbook to have color. Also it should list all the important events that our school has had through this year. Teachers pictures should be in there. They are those who helped the seniors succeed.

Ever since I was young, I've always wanted to experience love- life- and friendship, wondering what it would be like. What will I learn and learn and accomplish next. As a young girl I would just imagine. Never knowing the painted face that came along with it. As I've grown up, I finally experienced what I've been asking for; Love- Life- and Friendship. I gained and lost friends, got my heart broken and I lived through it all. Forever innocent.

My 2 years at North Quincy High School have been the best 2 years of my life. I like to thank my teachers for unleashing my potential; and my friends for showing me how positive life can be. I judge a person by their character, not their achievements. Remember, a person's spirit can be strong enough to make the world stop for him. One's potential is unlimited, only limited by oneself.

Eric Wong

There have been many people who have helped guide me to be a better academic student and a better overall person.  Jerry, Jeff, Gordan, Martin and a word of advice "Experience is a tool of life, use this tool and not only find out what you are, but who you are". Sorry if I left anyone out.

Hey! How's it going? Thank you for reading this. You must be nice because while you're reading this, I'll be making millions selling records and endorsing my line of fresh baked apple pies. I will save the lives of Eskimos from the treacherous winters of Alaska by providing warmth to their igloos. I see a bright future for myself...and I hope you succeed too...but I'll be more successful.

Visual Arts

Visual Arts is one of the six Renaissance majors. Students majoring in visual arts study advanced art concepts and techniques through a variety of media. With a concentration on oil painting, and the incorporation of art history, art interpretation and art appreciation students develop a framework for mastery of the field. A solid well rounded portfolio is a goal of the program and all seniors are required to present one completed in slide form. Students also develop the ability to talk about their own work and the work of others in an open forum.

Dance

Dance is one of the six majors in the Renaissance program. Students are exposed to a variety of dance forms including ballet, tap, jazz, and theatre dance. Basic dance and movement skills are utilized in the performance of an original piece as a final project. Dance majors and minors also participate in the midyear and final festivals. As a supplement to their studio work, students study the history of dance. Material presented range from tribal and folk dance to 20th century America.

Instrument

Applied music is one of the six majors offered as part of the Renaissance program. Students study music theory, composition, analysis, history and appreciation, and then apply them to their major instrument. Instrumentalists play in chamber music and ensembles. All students are expected to participate in the midyear and final festivals.

Photography

Photography is one of the six majors offered in the Renaissance program. Students learn how to communicate their visual ideas through a thorough exploration and investigation of the photographic process. Students develop their observational skills by a understanding the art of controlling light. Students are expected to produce a body of work that is of portfolio quality. Students are also exposed to the history of photography and its relationship to their own personal vision.

Theatre

Theatre is one of the six Renaissance majors. The theatre program emphasizes both dramatic performance and the history of theatre. Students are exposed to a variety of performance techniques and apply their skills to the presentation of monologues, scenes and short plays. In the process, students develop self confidence and skills in critical viewing and text analysis. They are encouraged to explore classical, Shakespearean and contemporary literary pieces and performance styles.

Freshman Year History

And so our journey at North Quincy High School begins...

Raider rug introduces itself to the bottom of our pants, the ten-period day becomes routine, and Mr. Owens helps us settle in.

The sweet melody of the Fire Alarms becomes a familiar sound, McDonalds supplies us with some fine after school dining, And we leave our first rally as victors over the sophomores.

We dance like animals at our very first homecoming, and a "Crazy for You" semi.

The Clinton Scandal pervades the US as Abercrombie invades NQHS.

NQ sports dominate with the hockey team, the girls' soccer team, girls' volleyball team, girls' basketball team, and the boy's basketball team making the tournament.

Mr. Chrisom ends his career in the gymnasium, and ROTC begins a tradition with its first fall and spring encampment.

The drama club puts the ever-popular "Dawson's Creek" to shame with its rendition of "Our Town".

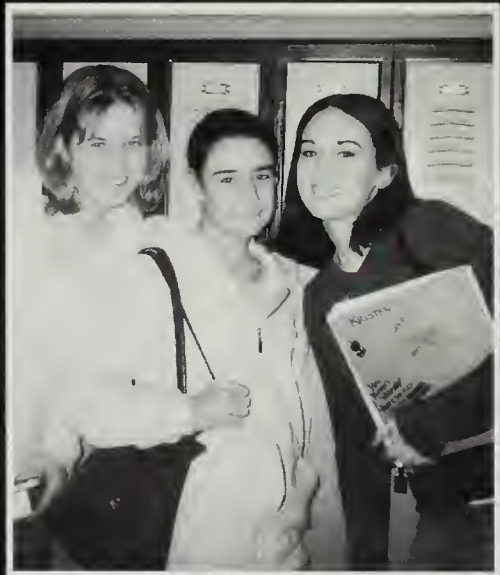

In the world of Hollywood, "Good Will Hunting" makes stars out of Bostonians Matt Damon and Ben Affleck.

Danger strikes in the form of the Spanish room fire-flood, and the infamous birthday announcement scandal tarnishes our reputation.

By the end, Freshmen Year leaves us slightly smarter, experienced, and ready for the summer.

Sophomore Year History

As Sophomores we are faced with our share of challenges:

In Sports, we enter the Turkey Day game against Quincy with the odds against us, and leave as victors.

Students are taken hostage by the MCAS, but find themselves outside the school more often than inside, testing thanks to our numerous potential bombers. We are grateful our scores do not count.

And many of us prepare to hit the roads with Drivers Ed.

But we don't forget how to have fun, we prove ourselves to be party locos at our second Homecoming Dance and tropical Hawaiiin Semi.

In the world of Academia,

Mrs. Feeney becomes principal and then retires.
Mr. Churwin retires from his teaching career,
And teachers stand up for their rights with a strike.

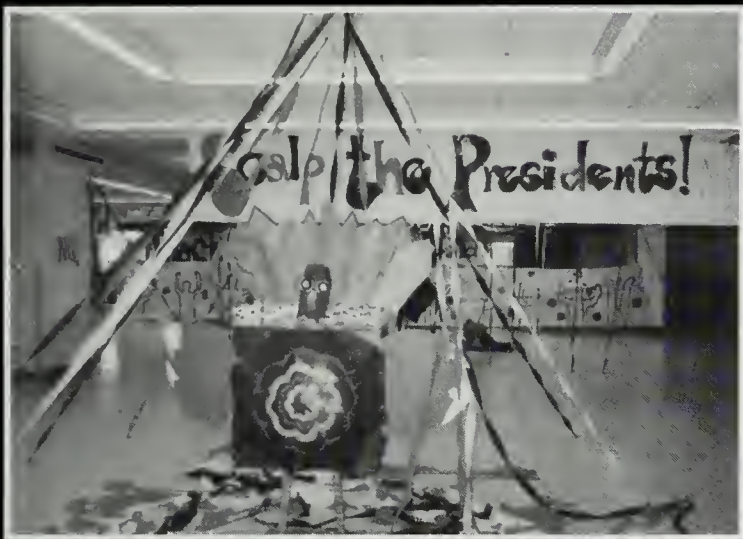

Meanwhile the Drama Club keeps its members working with memorable productions of Anne Frank and Antigone.

And the Art Club makes an entrance into the world of NQ clubs by creating a first place, award-winning Christmas float.

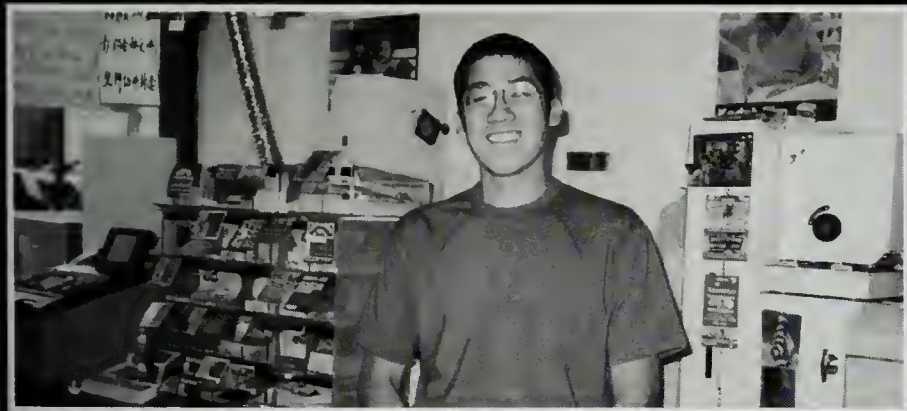

North Quincy is taken over by the harmonies of N'Sync, Backstreet Boys and Britney Spears...
And American Pie creates a name for our generation.

Junior Year History

By Junior Year we are ready to hit the roads with our newly acquired licenses, but is the road ready for us?

Many are left wondering, "Who was listening at Drivers' Ed?"

Dangers abound within the school:

Just when we thought the bomb threats were over; a lethal stage prop makes an appearance in Mrs. Mitchell's room. And choir students fear for their lives when the choir room floods.

We spice up school life with 80's Dress Up Day and Spirit Week. Tim Nelson spices up his own life by jumping into Walden Pond for the impressive amount of $5.00.

The Art Club proves it is not a one time wonder with a second award winning Christmas float, and many students enter the world of fine arts through the Renaissance program.

NQ sports impress with the Girls Soccer Team making the tournament and the Girls Volleyball Team becoming State Champions.

Students are submitted to the watchful stare of their new enforcers Mr. Moffett and Mr. Ioanilli.

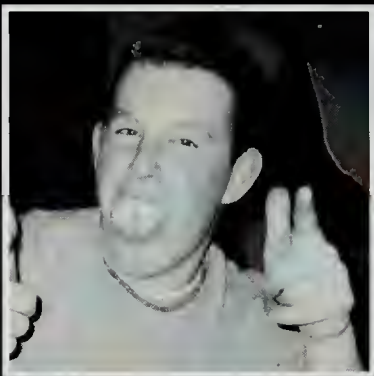

NQ also upholds its reputation outside of school, ROTC drill team competes at Daytona Beach, Florida And all the Patient Care Students pass the C.N.A. test.

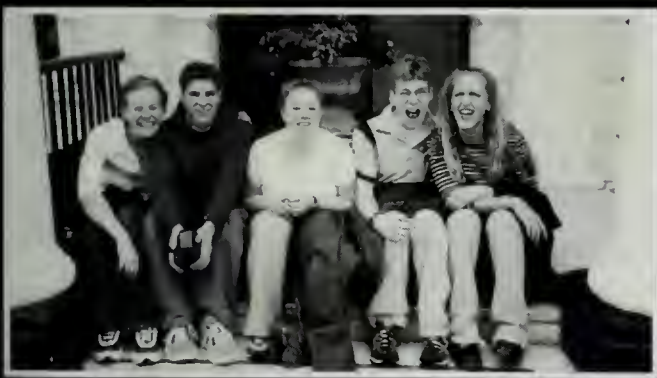

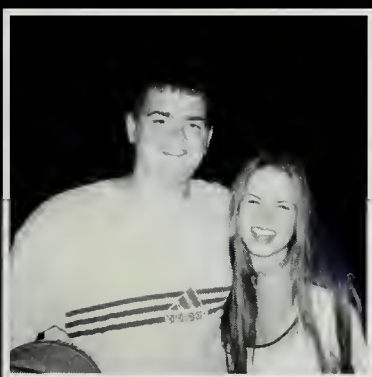

We end our Junior Year by saying good-bye to Beverly Hills 90210 with its final season, and begin to prepare for our Senior Year of the new millennium.

Senior Year History

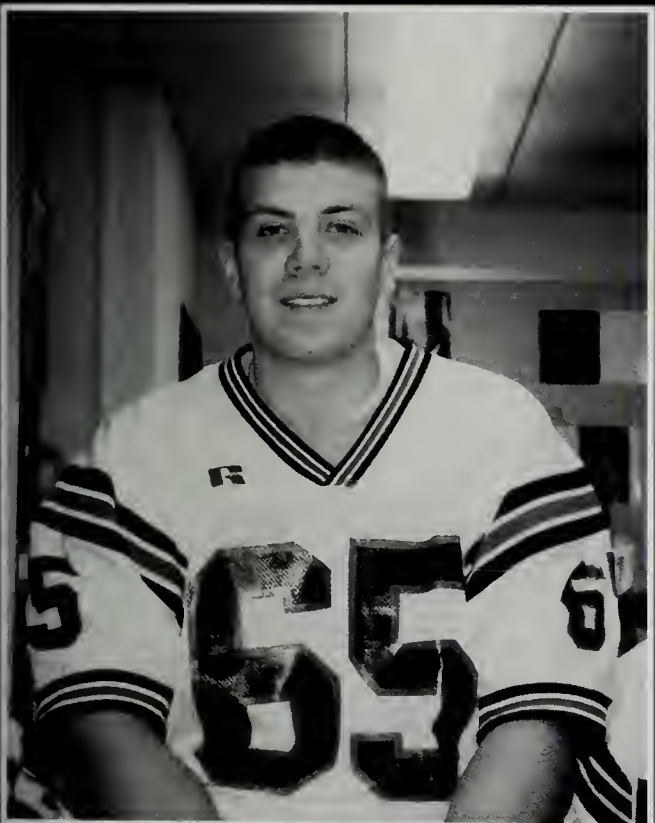

When asked to write the Senior History, we realized that the entire year is a blur. It's extremely difficult for us to pinpoint single events that stand out. We could rant and rave about the Senior Prom or the Senior Stay Out, but that would just follow the hackneyed plot that many yearbooks take on to describe their senior year. We could go on talking about other ordinary events that took place, such as the Homecoming Dance, the new Valentine's Day Dance, The Battle of the Bands, and an arsenal of senior trips. A history is usually written in order to reflect on everything that took place the previous year, but on this day, May 24, 2001, senior sign out day, we have to question whether or not we are ready to leave high school since it has all just happened so fast.

Take a few minutes right now to realize that a big part of your life has been concluded; sit down and reminisce about your life as a high school student. The thoughts that you have about starting over probably turn your stomach, but the experience you've had, has made you grow stronger from it. We hope the four years that you spent here left you with many friends or at least an acquaintance, whether you hung out in Squantum, Wollaston, or your friend's basement. Whether you went out at night in search of excitement or stayed at home as the evenings came and went, we all woke up every morning and gathered in the hall, remembering when Andrea sang, "I Rule the World" with Paul. Also remember sitting on the bridge hearing that the assist record was broken by Casey Ridge. And just when you thought the season was close to the end, Ace Keddy, at Adams, put one over the fence. Then there's the Art Crew led by Sarah Dufrane with her funny jokes that made us go insane. The AP government class will always remember its trip to Washington, D.C., and who knows what kind of politicians they'll turn out to be? We know that Dean Zoia will be famous one day, as a talented musician he'll be drumming away, and the long-legged Kellyrose will be cruising catwalks in New York fashion shows. Next there's Peter Chan, who will achieve super stardom as the most musically talented man. Let's not forget Rene Rolfe's assistance in all of the schools plays; her expertise in theater has blown us away! Of course, Jen Conley, will be playing basketball, jumping higher and higher with her personality setting the world on fire. How exciting it will be to say we knew Matt Yohe, the world's most successful man; he'll win a Nobel Peace Prize. We know he can. Who could forget the humorous, Nicole Worley who will be a hit wherever she goes, surely. Undoubtedly, we will always remember the "off-the-wall" dance moves of Adam Woo, bumping and grinding at school dances, and doing the "worm" at our proms, too. The first Homecoming King should never be forgotten; Paul Griffith is a legend and Student Council President, not to mention. We certainly can't forget our Senior Class President, Roisin. Maybe she'll be the first woman in the White House...we'll have to wait and see.

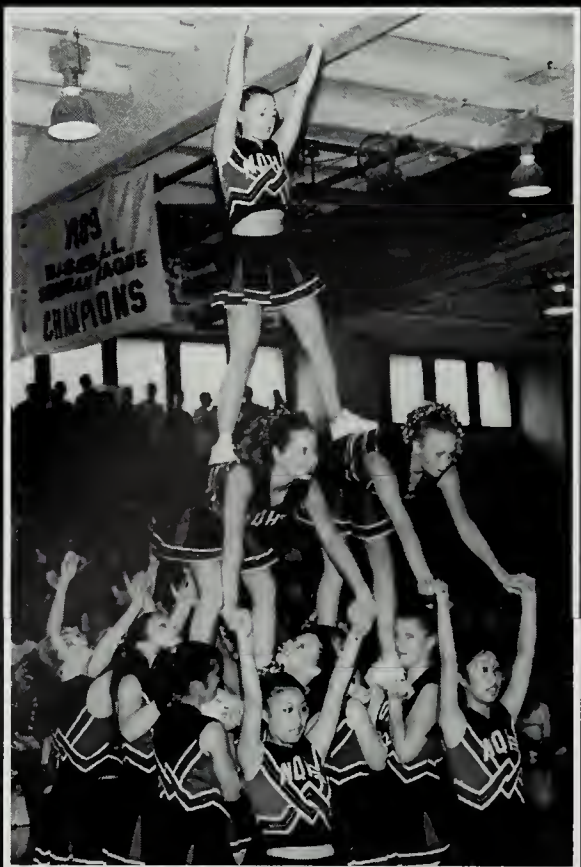

No matter where we go or what we become after graduation, June 4, 2001, we will always remember the times we shared at North Quincy High School. We will hang onto the lessons we learned, the hardships we have overcome, and the friendships we have made that have shaped us over the past four years. So, just remember, "We part only to meet again"

-Henry Adams

We, the class of 2001, dedicate this yearbook to the loving, warm spirit that both Mr. Papile and Mrs. Nolan projected at North Quincy High School, in the community, and with their families.

Louise Nolan was a compassionate, caring individual who loved working with "her students" at North. The most memorable thing about Louise was her beautiful smile and her ability to laugh heartily even at herself. Louise Nolan was married to Paul Nolan for twenty-seven years, and was the mother of four... Doug, Jenna, Brian, and Brianna. We shall all miss Mrs. Nolan greatly at North Quincy High School.

Bob Papile, a Technology Education teacher at North Quincy High School, died suddenly in the fall of 2000. Loved by all- students, teachers, and the young men and women he reached through the years, "Pap" was married to Ellie Papile and was the father of Marisa, Anthony, and Elena. We shall all miss Mr. Papile greatly at North Quincy High School.

Editors Page

A 6-foot three-dimensional, cardboard turkey, three sky-high, fluorescent palm trees, a 10-foot long sponge painted 2001 sign for the pride rally, a paper-mache Yakoo the size of a human, three cardboard NQ cheerleaders, a 30-foot seniority sign to cover the second floor bridge, life-size dummies dressed as Quincy presidents covered in red raider colors, and a 60 foot tall mural of the Yakoo.

If you asked us why after all of these "out of control projects" we took on the monstrous task of being the editors of the 2001 yearbook, we wouldn't be able to answer you. All we could say is that we wanted our classmates to have one of the best yearbooks to ever have been done in North Quincy High School. We wanted to design a yearbook that would give an innovative, accurate and diverse account of the past four years. Our attempt at such a book may not have been perfect and may have caused much stress, but we gave it our best shot.

The nightmare started last April...we sat at Barnes & Nobles going through book after book searching for layout ideas, drawing sketches of the pages and discussing the theme and style of this book. Over a year later, and an unbearable number all-nighters, a handful of nervous breakdowns, possibly over a hundred heated discussions, and with too many caffeinated beverages behind us, we sit again in the Barnes and Nobles' Starbucks café writing this editor's page. And as usual, writing this page is a last minute scenario and the result of expert procrastination. So, if this page seems rushed or slightly ambiguous, we apologize. But that's besides the point, the reason we are writing this page is to give you a brief account of the making of the 2001 yearbook and the experiences we had a long the way. For starters, we pulled our first all-nighter last April designing the layout for the entire yearbook. And, when you were all out enjoying your summer nights, we were out (at Kinko's) making photo-copies of demonstration layouts to show you at the first yearbook meeting. But we don't hold any grudges, which is why we continued to slave over the yearbook. We pleaded with the Principal, Vice Principal, and Yearbook Advisors for our class' rights to have personalized bios and dealt with a handful of mishaps with the photography studio (they just couldn't seem to take pictures vertically). And when we thought the worst of the yearbook traumas were behind us, once again we forfeited sleep to run around the city of Quincy finding wedding dresses, clown wigs, and devil horns for our Superlative pages. Then, in May, we were under the pressure of completing a hundred page deadline, while also having to finish school projects, papers, and homework assignments needed to graduate. And when May 24 rolled around, and most seniors were signing out we were in the school every day for over a week cropping photos, designing layouts, arguing with yearbook advisors, and like always, not sleeping. Now it's June 14 and we still have not put the nightmare to rest...we have to finish this editor's page. The yearbook is being sent out in less than an hour, and we are staring at the computer screen, tired, exhausted, fed up, and done.

Before we finish this trying page we have a few people to thank; Paul "the Messiah" Garvey thank you so much, without you this yearbook would be a technical disaster, Chris Johnson for typing in the senior bios, and Lori DeLucia for writing the ever-so-clever freshman, sophomore, and junior histories. Most of all we would like to thank our families for all the support over the hectic past four years...you've saved us again and again! On that note (and we never thought we would be able to say this)...we are finally finished! Hope you enjoy.

“We part only to meet again.”

- John Gay
